Equal Opportunity Schools Partners with COSEBOC to Present Virtual Gathering of Leaders

The Virtual Session Will Take Place Thursday, May 28th To Teach Educational Leaders About Healing Centered Engagement Post COVID-19 with Keynote Speaker Dr. Shawn Ginwright

Seattle, WA - Today, Equal Opportunity Schools, a Seattle-based national nonprofit announces their upcoming virtual gathering of leaders in partnership with COSEBOC (Coalition of Schools Educating Boys Of Color) focused on healing-centered engagement. The keynote speaker will be Dr. Shawn Ginwright and the virtual event will take place on Thursday, May 28th from 9AM-11AM PST (12PM-2PM EST).

Dr. Shawn Ginwright is a professor in the Africana Studies Department and Senior Research Associate for the Cesar Chavez Institute for Public Policy at San Francisco State University. Dr. Ginwright's address, "Healing Centered Engagement Post-COVID-19," will explore the disproportionate impact of the pandemic on communities that are already affected by health disparities. Dr. Ginwright, widely known for his healing centered approach to address trauma and for his focus on youth in urban communities, will discuss tools, techniques, and insights to address racial and social inequality and create a climate of healing, which is sorely needed in our pandemic-centered world. The session will be followed by an on screen Q&A session and breakouts to workshop the conversation.

The conference is a part of Equal Opportunity Schools' continuing development of tools for a virtual learning environment, with a critical need brought about by the COVID-19 crisis. Their goal is to build powerful professional learning experiences.

Says Equal Opportunity School's Chief Strategy Officer Dr. Sasha Rabkin, "We believe that during this crisis, we must find creative ways to call out and discuss the important questions about equity in education, and continue to bring together educators, thought leaders and speakers to plan for a more equitable future."

Tickets are $49.99 and can be purchased online at <https://coseboc.org/event/virtual-gathering-leaders>. You can learn more about Equal Opportunity Schools at <https://eoschools.org>.
